Singing together is proven to improve your mood, increase happiness and decrease stress.

This team building workshop will take your group (who may be a bit sceptical to start), through an exciting singing session to show them that anything is possible when you work in harmony as a team.

Through fun and amusing vocal and rhythm exercises, you'll soon find a harmonious, unified team is created.

At the end you will be able to sing a popular song as a choir group, with surprisingly good results! This can run as a short ice breaker or energiser session, or as a longer team building event.
