CODEBUSTERS

All usual communications are down across the globe!

Your elite teams will need to tune into and decode urgent Morse transmissions from a network of covert agents, each holding a vital piece of the puzzle and crucial to completing a series of top secret challenges. This interactive event will demand seamless teamwork, razor-sharp strategic thinking and a good dose of fun, as teams master the art of decoding one of the oldest and most resilient forms of communication.

Your group will be divided into teams of approximately 10 guests, huddling around a dedicated command table, each equipped with a Radio Receiver that broadcasts signals both audibly and visually. The mission kicks off with a briefing on the fundamentals of Morse code – the legendary dot-and-dash system and the secrets to sending and receiving.

Each team will then intercept a series of encrypted messages from agents positioned in hotspots across the globe. They must tune into these transmissions on their Radio Receiver and swiftly decipher them. Once teams have cracked the code, decrypted messages must be rushed to 'Samuel Morse,' our designated Intelligence Officer at the front of the room. In exchange for a correctly decoded message, teams will receive a top-secret challenge to be completed back at their command tables. Only when each message is accurately deciphered and its subsequent challenge conquered, will teams unlock the next piece of the mission.

Teams will have a strict 2-hour window to decipher as many messages and conquer their accompanying challenges as possible. The team that successfully deciphers the most messages and submits the most correct challenge solutions will be hailed 'The Ultimate Morse Code Busters'!
